

CABINET PERSONNEL SHIFTS RAPIDLY

COOLIDGE WILL HAVE AN ALMOST NEW BODY MAR. 4

All But Two of Harding Group Expected To Follow Hughes Lead

Washington, Jan. 12.—President Coolidge will begin his own administration on the fourth of March next with a cabinet that will bear but little resemblance to the one he inherited from the late President Harding a year and a half ago.

Important shifts in the diplomatic corps are also in the making, and will emphasize the "new deal" that Washington expects to see when Mr. Coolidge begins his presidency "in his own right."

Of the cabinet which Mr. Coolidge took over from the Harding regime, four now have gone or are going and six remain—Mellon, Hoover, Weeks, New and Work. Of these the expectation prevails that all but Secretary Mellon and Secretary Hoover will retire by the fourth of March. There will also be a vacancy in the agricultural department due to Secretary Gore's becoming governor of West Virginia. Recent developments have indicated that Robert D. Carey, ex-governor of Wyoming, now head of the Coolidge agricultural commission, will be appointed to this post.

Secretary of War Weeks has not been in good health recently. He is credited with a desire to retire on this account.

Secretary of Labor Davis has already informed Mr. Coolidge of his wish to retire and the president has indicated he will acquiesce.

In the cases of Postmaster General New and Secretary of the Interior Work, personal considerations are said to be impelling them to private life.

Secretary Mellon is credited with a wish to remain in the treasury at least until he sees the principles of the cherished tax embodied into legislation.

Secretary Hoover recently told friends that Mr. Coolidge wanted him to remain and that he had agreed to do so.

There probably will be changes in three of the most important embassies in Europe as a result of the retirement of Secretary Hughes and the appointment of Frank B. Kellogg, now at London, to succeed him. The London vacancy is assured. For this post there is no dearth of candidates. The belief exists in Washington, however, that Alanson B. Houghton, now ambassador to Germany, will be shifted to London. The president is understood to think highly of Mr. Houghton.

This shift, if made, would leave a vacancy in Berlin. There is also a prospective vacancy in Paris, as Ambassador Myron T. Herrick has informed the president of his desire to retire.

Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois is understood to be the foremost candidate for the Paris post. He speaks French fluently and wants the appointment. He has been a frequent White House visitor lately.

The general belief prevails in Washington that after March 4, President Coolidge will be found assuming a more personal direction of foreign affairs. Both under Harding and under Coolidge, Secretary of State Hughes has had almost a free hand in the direction of American foreign policy and in some of his policies—notably those affecting Russia and the world court—he has been constantly at loggerheads with the senate. One of his most persistent critics is Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, now chairman of the powerful foreign relations committee of the senate, and the outstanding champion of Russian recognition. There exists between Borah and Mr. Coolidge a closer personal relationship than is generally realized. The Idaho senator is a frequent visitor and advisor to the White House. Consequently the capital expects to see a softening of the Russian policy after March fourth.

Secretary Hughes has been a staunch and sometimes bitter opponent of any dealings whatever with the soviet government. It is due to his stern and unyielding opposition that the United States today is the only major power in the world that does not have relations of one kind or another with Moscow. Senator Borah has argued consistently against this rigid policy, and there have been indications recently that his missionary work has not been entirely in vain, where Mr. Coolidge is concerned.

Ambassador Kellogg's policies are not expected to "bristle" so much as those of Hughes. Kellogg has been in the senate, and was a member of the foreign relations committee. He was one of the mildest of the "mild" reservationists in the League of Nations fight. This attitude of his was described by his friends as "judicial" and by his opponents as "timid." Irrespective of this, the expectation prevails generally that Mr. Coolidge plans to take a greater personal part in the direction of foreign affairs under Kellogg than he has under Secretary Hughes, with Senator Borah's voice no inconsiderable factor in future policies.

Concert Pianist Loses Dream and Money

MRS. ESTHER W. BROOKS

Mrs. Esther Wexler Brooks, concert pianist, met Arthur F. Brooks as the result of a dinner flirtation and married him in Chicago. He told her he was a motion picture impresario. Brooks talked his wife's foster parents into selling their home for $13,000, which they entrusted to him to "invest" at fourteen per cent. He disappeared immediately, they reported to the police.

ARREST OF YOUTHS POLICE THINK WILL CLEAR UP ROBBERIES

Police believe they have cleared up the mystery surrounding two burglaries at the Dunkle Grocery, Cincinnati Avenue, Friday and Thursday nights, with the arrest Saturday afternoon of six Xenia boys.

Durando Lemons, James Burton, Ralph Coors, Earl, Robert and Ralph Terrill, were arrested by Patrolmen Fred Jones and Peter Shagin, but with the exception of Burton and Earl Terrill, all denied they were implicated in the robberies.

Earl Terrill, 19, arraigned in Police Court Monday morning on a charge of petit larceny, pleaded guilty, and was given a fine of $200 and costs and a sentence of thirty days in the Greene County Jail by Judge E. D. Smith. Terrill and Burton admitted entering the grocery last Friday night and taking a quantity of tobacco.

The other five boys, all minors, will be arraigned in Juvenile Court Thursday afternoon on delinquency charges. All were released from custody.

Burton also admitted that he had entered the grocery Thursday night together with Lemons and escaped with seventy-five pennies from the open cash drawer. Entrance was gained through the cellar window.

DRIVE AGAINST NANKING PLAN; MARINES LAND

Looting Continues In Shanghai—Rail Services Are Cut

Shanghai, Jan. 12.—Flushed with their easy victory here, Sun Shuan Fang and Chi Hsieh Yuan plan an immediate joint drive against Soo Chow and Nanking, it was announced today.

Despite announcement of Chi that he is doing his utmost to clear up the situation in Shanghai, thousands of armed stragglers are still roaming the streets in the vicinity of the foreign settlements.

Widespread looting is proceeding in the native city. So far there have been no disturbances in the French concession or international settlement, although stray bullets are still falling near their borders. All rail services out of Shanghai have been cut.

Shanghai, Jan. 12.—Marines from the naval units stationed here have landed and today were assisting the regular defense troops in patrolling the foreign settlement which was within range and sight of the fighting incident to the coup of Chi Hsieh-Yuan and Sun Chuan-Fang.

Chi, formerly tuchon of Nanking and Sun, tuchon of Chekiang, today were in possession of the Kiangwan arsenal and the Lungwa quarter, virtually controlling the Shanghai district in defiance of the provisional government at Peking.

Foreign concessions border on the district through which the fighting was carried on for several hours and several shots struck the Catholic cathedral.

Chang Yuan Ming, Pekin defense commissioner, was in flight today, leaving eight thousand of his men, who fled to the French concession.

CRIME WAVE SWEEPS LONDON WHEN HEAVY FOG COVERS CITY

One Killed and Economic Loss of $5,000,000 Estimated

London, Jan. 12.—The city life of London was almost wholly disorganized today as the result of a thirty six hour fog. Economic losses are estimated to have reached $5,000,000. One person is dead, scores were injured and criminal activity has greatly increased.

During the night, bus and street car service was withdrawn. Many busses and private automobiles were left beside the curb because they could not reach their garages. The police force was depleted because some officers could not reach their stations.

Others could not locate their beats. As a result, criminals worked unmolested in numerous districts.

Street collisions between motors and horse drawn vehicles were frequent, one person being killed and dozens hurt. Train service was badly disarranged.

The Paris aeroplane arrived in the midst of the fog and was forced to circle for a long time trying to locate the landing place. Rockets were sent up by the aerodrome. The pilot took a chance and came down through the fog, making a perfect landing.

London was dark as night today, although the fog had lifted slightly. Several sections of the city reported it had lifted 100 feet, making street traffic easier near the river.

Scientists estimated there were tons of soot suspended over the city.

BUILDING AND LOAN SECRETARY TO TALK BEFORE CIVIC CLUBS

Plans are practically complete for the local observance of National Thrift Week, beginning on Benjamin Franklin's birthday, January 17, and continuing through January 23, in buildings and loan institutions.

James A. Devine, Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Building and Loan Association will deliver a speech to a joint meeting of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, local civic organizations, the date to be announced later, according to H. L. LeSourd, of the Home Building and Savings Company, who is in charge of the local observance.

No particular days during the course of the week will be observed especially, in relation to thrift week it was announced.

Past accomplishments of the building and loan associations have brought to the immediate notice of the public, the far-reaching effects of this worthy service, of which thrift week is no exception.

FAVORS AMENDMENT

Nelsonville, Jan. 12.—The Athens County Council of churches at a meeting here declared in favor of the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution. The council adopted a resolution asking that the Athens County members of the state legislature support the proposal.

ECONOMY URGED BY DONAHEY

SUGGEST HOUGHTON
London, Jan. 12.—Diplomatic circles here believe that Alanson B. Houghton, ambassador to Germany, will be appointed to succeed Frank B. Kellogg at the court of St. James, it was learned today. While it was thought that the British government would accept this appointment, it is understood that some of the "die hard" Tories fear that Houghton is over sympathetic toward Germany.

DONAHEY GIVES MESSAGE

Governor Vic Donahey delivered his message to the new general assembly Monday. He urged economy and recommended new constructive legislation.

COMMISSION HOLDS ASSIGNING OF CARS BY ROADS IS UNJUST

Railways Must Change Practice in Regard to Private Cars

Washington, Jan. 12.—The interstate commerce commission today reaffirmed its previous decision holding that the practice of the railroads in assigning private cars and foreign line cars for railway fuel to bituminous coal mines in excess of the ratable share contemporaneously distributed to bituminous coal mines upon their lines, which do not not only unreasonably, was unjust and unreasonable.

The railroads were ordered to change their practice with regard to privately owned coal cars by March 1, 1925.

The commission was divided on the question, Commissioners Hall, Potter and Cox dissenting from the majority report.

Commissioner Cox said no question which has come before the commission in recent years is more closely related to the industrial life of the nation than this case which deals with the distribution of coal cars.

"Public utilities, transportation agencies and other industries which are not only intimately associated with the distribution of heat, light and power but with practically all the necessities of life, as well as all dependent upon a regular and dependable fuel supply," Cox said. "The present efficiency in transportation is largely dependent upon an unflinching supply of coal. If this supply is reduced or even restricted, the industrial life of the country is at once affected and the public welfare suffers accordingly. President Coolidge has emphasized the need for elimination of waste and there is splendid opportunity for co-operation along these lines in the production and distribution of coal. It is my thought that the use of the assigned car as well as private cars, is along the line of efficiency and economy of operation."

They both occupy an important place in the field of efficient transportation and their use should be encouraged rather than condemned.

"The private car owners are grouped generally into three classes, according to the commission's report: "1—Those that owned the plants, mines and cars, the latter being used to transport coal from the owned mines to the plants of the owning company. In this class are included the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiaries, Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, Wisconsin Steel and International Harvester Companies, Ford Motor Company and the Steel Company of Canada."

"2—Those that own cars and plants, but not the mines. Included in this class are the by-product coke ovens, not connected with the steel and other plants, enumerated in class one and the public service electric company."

"3—Those that own cars and mines, but which are dependent upon outside contracts for the disposition of the coal, the Berwind White Coal Company and the West Moreland Coal Company being included in this class. Company being included in this class."

"It is absolutely necessary for the steel and by-product coke corporations to secure a regular and adequate supply of suitable coal which the past has demonstrated cannot be secured alone in system cars during periods of car shortages," Commissioner Potter said in dissenting from the majority report.

"The mother, after starting the blaze, ran out into the street to call for help, then returned and perished with her five children and a negro who lived with them."

New Rochelle, N. Y., Jan. 12.—One hundred persons were homeless today and police were seeking a pyromaniac, following a series of fires which destroyed three dwellings within a few blocks of each other.

Hundreds were driven to the wind swept streets in night attire. Police agreed the fires were of suspicious origin. They said that so far as they knew, no one had been injured.

Detective Michael Lynch climbed a telephone pole to the third floor of one of the tenements and shouted to a woman standing at a window there to throw to him the baby she had in her arms. Lynch caught the infant with one hand as he clung to the pole with the other and made his way safely to the ground. Again he ascended the pole, and this time called to the woman to wait until firemen who were unhooking a long ladder reached her. Firemen carried her down to safety a few seconds before flames shattered the window at which she had stood.

Fireman Tinkham ran through dense clouds of smoke on upper floors and saved several children.

Firemen making their way through the building came upon an old man seated near a window on the second floor, partially overcome by smoke, and carried him to safety.

Prosecuting Attorney J. Carl Marshall is marking time before formal charges of murder are filed against Forest Kennedy, Cedarville, who shot and killed his wife and then attempted suicide.

Kennedy was in a serious condition from his bullet wound but is growing steadily better and it is believed he may survive to face the murder charge.

After his attempt to end his life, he acquired a case of pneumonia, which is abating due to the man's remarkable vitality.

Since the improvement in his condition, two officers have been set to guard against his escape or another suicide attempt and will continue to perform guard duty, day and night, until he is able to be removed.

No charges will be filed until it is certain that Kennedy will live, according to Prosecutor Marshall.

MANSFIELD PAPER CHANGES OWNERS

Mansfield, O., Jan. 12.—The Mansfield Journal, established last September as an afternoon newspaper, was issued today under new management, controlling interest in the Journal having been acquired by Henry G. Brunner, former mayor of Mansfield. G. J. Kochenderfer, former editor of the Mansfield News, becomes managing editor.

Announcement carried in today's issue is to the effect that the Journal is to be independent in politics.

BRIBERY CHARGE IS MISTAKE SAYS DAVIS

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 12.—"They are making a big mistake and a mighty bad move."

This was the only comment today of Governor Jonathan M. Davis, regarding the indictments against him, charging bribery and conspiracy which today awaited only his formal leaving of the office of governor for service.

The warrants name both him and his son, Russell, alleged acceptor of a bribe, which, it is charged, was in return for the granting of a pardon by Davis.

SEVEN FATALLY BURNED IN JERSEY FIRE—100 HOMELESS IN NEW YORK

Pyromaniac Sought After Three Dwellings Burn—Firemen Injured Answering Three Alarm Blaze In Cleveland.

Caldwell, N. J., Jan. 12.—Seven negroes, six members of the George Gooch family, and an unidentified woman boarder, were burned to death when a gasoline fed kitchen fire flared up in an explosion that destroyed their home today. Horace Jordan, another negro, was severely burned.

The mother, after starting the blaze, ran out into the street to call for help, then returned and perished with her five children and a negro who lived with them.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Jan. 12.—One hundred persons were homeless today and police were seeking a pyromaniac, following a series of fires which destroyed three dwellings within a few blocks of each other.

GOVERNOR ALSO SUGGESTS NEW LEGISLATION TO SAFE GUARD PUBLIC INTERESTS

Executive Tells Legislators He is Opposed To State Constabulary—Wants New Utilities Commission Regulation.

Columbus, O., Jan. 12.—Economy in state governmental expenditures and enactment of legislation designed to more effectively safeguard the interests of the general public were recommended by Governor Donahey today in his message to the state legislature.

Advising that the state live within its income, the governor estimated state funds available for appropriations during the next two years will approximate $77,000,000.

On the subject of taxation, Governor Donahey voiced his opposition to any new direct state tax levies; reiterated his recommendation, made in his message two years ago, that the people of each taxing district be given direct and full control over future increases in tax levies, debts and sources of revenue, and urged legislators to advise with the attorney general for the purpose of enacting additional franchise tax legislation.

A number of changes in the law affecting public utilities were urged by the governor. He recommended that the legislature appropriate $100,000 a year, to be spent on the direction of the governor in employing trained men to secure information for presentation to the state utilities commission, "thereby securing just settlements."

Changes in the Freeman Collier act, providing for regulation of motor bus transportation, were recommended by the governor, providing for home rule in municipalities in reference to motor transportation for hire wholly within municipalities, and authorizing the public utilities commission to delegate the hearing of motor transportation cases to representatives of the committee with a right of appeal under proper restrictions.

Eulogizing the Ohio Workmen's Compensation act, as "the model compensation system of the world," Governor Donahey recommended that the occupational disease provisions of the act be broadened so as to embrace the occupational diseases not now included in the law. He recommended also, legislation permitting the state industrial commission to carry out the provision of the state constitution authorizing the commission to set aside as a separate fund, such proportion of the contributions paid by employers into the state insurance fund as in its judgment may be necessary to be spent in investigating and preventing industrial accidents and diseases.

Charging that the election system "is too expensive, and also, is too susceptible to political manipulation and fraud," Governor Donahey asserted that quadrennial registration is frequent enough for the cities now having it annually. Annual registration is unnecessary. It only serves to give a four day job to a horde of election officials," the governor said.

"Provision should be made to enable bona fide groups of voters, other than the two political parties participating in primary elections, to have watchers at the polls and at the counting of the ballots," continued the governor.

"Also I desire to urge, as I did two years ago, the broadening of our primary election system so as to permit independent voters, those having no party affiliations, or those unwilling to state publicly their affiliations, to participate in the nomination of candidates."

Touching upon law enforcement, the governor recommended exempting chiefs of police from civil service so that mayors may appoint chiefs of their own choosing, in sympathy with their own policies. He also, asked that provision be made for the payment of witness fees in connection with hearings conducted by the governor.

More economical construction of school buildings, reducing waste space and eliminating super-normation, was urged by Donahey, who advocated, also, legislation providing for greater co-relation and coordination of the work of the state universities, colleges and normal schools, and for creation of a single board, or body to control these educational institutions.

Referring to state welfare, the governor reiterated his plea for restoration of a bi-partisan, or non-partisan board of administration as the supervising and managing agency for the state's 23 penal, correctional and charitable institutions. He favored a $500,000 appropriation for additional buildings at the London prison farm, larger appropriation for compensating prisoners at work, purchase by the state of Longview Hospital for the insane, from Hamilton county commissioners for $1,500,000; enlargement of buildings for the care of the feeble minded, and special provision for feeble minded children.

Other recommendations made by the governor were:

Instead of creating more common pleas judgeships, let the chief justice of the state supreme court assign to the more populous counties judges from other districts to help clear congested dockets.

Provide for enlarging the work of eradicating bovine tuberculosis and combating the European corn borer.

Grant increased salaries to attendants and other employees in state penal, reformatory and benevolent institutions.

Amend the law which limits the gravel type of road constructions to main market roads so as to permit extension of intercounty roads.

"The best way we can serve the farmers of Ohio at this time, it seems to me, is to administer the government economically and to guard against creating needless tax burdens, because every time you increase taxes, the brunt of the burden falls on the land and home owner, who has his possessions intangible, physical property which cannot be hidden and cannot escape being taxed," said Governor Donahey.

The governor advised spending about $124,000 for enlargement of state fair facilities by purchasing so of the cheaper land north of the fair grounds before prices become absorbitant by reason of erection of residences.

He heartily endorsed "helpful legislation" (designed to curtail the number of grade crossing and other highway accidents) but voiced opposition to a state police or constabulary, and advised that local communities employ all the police and deputy sheriffs needed.

Legislation seeking elimination of stream pollution and conservation and protection of forests, as well as water, were urged by the governor. He advised partial or entire, tax exemption for forest tracts, approved by state forestry department Wooster and recommended that legislators take steps looking toward a conference of representatives of all states bordering on Lake Erie with a view to enactment of uniform laws providing for the conservation and development of the Lake Erie fishing industry.

Probably no changes will be made in the official personnel of Xenia banking institutions at the annual elections Tuesday, January 13.

Xenia's three banks, the Citizens' National Bank, Commercial and Savings Bank and the Xenia National Bank will hold directors' meetings Tuesday for election purposes.

R. S. Kingsbury, president of the Citizens' Bank, H. H. Conklin, president of the Commercial and Savings Bank and George Little, president of the Xenia National Bank are all expected to succeed themselves.

(not to exceed one per cent annually) of the contributions paid by employers into the state insurance fund as in its judgment may be necessary to be spent in investigating and preventing industrial accidents and diseases.

HOOVER LEADING NATIONAL DRIVE UPON ACCIDENTS

Washington, Jan. 10.—The support of the Governor of every State in the United States has been solicited by Secretary of Commerce Hoover in the campaign to reduce the heavy annual loss of life in traffic accidents. Machinery has been set in motion looking to general application of recommendations adopted at the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, aimed at putting traffic on a sane basis. Backed by the endorsement of President Coolidge, the conference arranged to make available to every State and community information and suggestions for cutting down traffic accidents.

Secretary Hoover has addressed to all Governors letters transmitting a copy of the final report of the conference and suggesting that it be called to the attention of State Legislatures in the event that new motor-vehicle and highway legislation is contemplated.

Secretary Hoover has also sent the recommendations to Mayors of cities, local Chambers of Commerce, motor clubs and safety councils, urging co-operation of these bodies in permanently effecting better traffic conditions.

The Department of Commerce said that already "the letters pouring into the offices of the Safety Conference indicate that hundreds of delegates have started, with the assistance of newspapers of the country, to wage a more intensive drive for safety education and safety practice."

"It is also indicated," officials declared, "that railways officials, motor clubs, Chambers of Commerce, safety councils and other bodies are being brought into closer contact with the work undertaken by other groups. The support of all these groups will be given wholeheartedly to programs which may be undertaken by officials in the various States."

Recommendations adopted by the conference will be made available for official and non-official organizations throughout the country. It was announced that pledges of co-operation have been received from the American Legion, with 17,000 posts and auxiliaries, and, also, from the National Association of Commissioners for uniform laws.

"The former will mean," the Department said, "that several million members of the Legion will through their local branches lend their highway safety programs."

"The latter will add a considerable force in the attempt to bring about legislation which will reduce the existing confusion of traffic laws between neighboring States."

B. AND O. SAVING

retrenchment and reduction of a large deficit occasioned by depression in business last summer and fall.

EVERYTHING SET FOR WRESTLING SHOW AT EAGLES MONDAY NIGHT-PALMER TO REFEREE

All is in readiness for the wrestling match which is to be staged Monday night at Eagles Hall the first match starting at 8:15 o'clock.

Three matches have been arranged by Promoter Carlin. The main go will bring together Jack Armstrong of Newark, and Curly Wioness of a Cleveland. They will grapple to a finish in the best two out of three falls. The men are welters and some fast work is expected when these two 145 pounders clash.

The semi-windup will find Bull Gossard, London middleweight and Young

Frank Gotch, Kansas City, champion of the Middle West. Gotch is better known as Billy Carlin, who is putting on the show. When he arrived in this city he asked that his identity not be disclosed until the night of the scrap.

Gotch, who tips the beam at 163 pounds, will give Gossard all the rough and tumble milking he is looking for. Gossard has shown here before and in his matches he illustrated that he likes to grapple the rugged way. Gossard will no doubt have his hands full when he attempts this kind of stuff with Gotch. They will grapple one fall or a time limit of ninety minutes.

Speedy Crawford, colored welter of this city, will take on either Pete Hartley or some other good welter in the curtain raiser. This will be the local boy's debut in the wrestling game and he is anxious to make good so he has been training hard and is ready for a tough evening.

Charles Palmer of Columbus, will be the third man in the ring. He has handled several championship matches for different clubs while his work around Columbus, Dayton and other cities always pleased. Fans therefore will be afforded a chance to see a first class official and everything will be run off in first class shape. Popular prices will prevail.

Its coolness and mellow "body" are a revelation to pipe smokers

Back about 1870, James N. Wellman developed a secret tobacco process which won instant and widespread favor. It yielded a fuller-bodied richness, mildness and fragrance which just seemed to "go" with a pipe. No one else ever knew his secret until we acquired "Wellman's Method" and by its means made "Granger Rough Cut"

FAMILY DRIVEN FROM HOME BY FIRE WHICH DESTROYS FAIRFIELD RESIDENCE SUNDAY

The ten-room home of Fay Warren, employee of Wilbur Wright Field, Fairfield located in the new addition of Fairfield known as Fairview, was completely destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. The blaze is thought to have originated in a defective flue and smoldered for several hours.

The fire was discovered by the Warren family about 1:30 o'clock, and efforts were made to stop the fire between the walls. It was thought after a time that the fire had been conquered and the family returned to bed.

The blaze broke out later and Mr. and Mrs. Warren and their several children escaped from their burning home. All the furniture in the house was saved, but the home, valued at $4,500, was completely destroyed.

The loss was partially covered by $3,500 insurance Mr. Warren said.

The Warren home, a two-story structure, was moved from Old Osborn to the new site when the village was moved, and it is thought probably that the flue was damaged in the moving process. The house was heated by coal stoves and sparks were caught in the flue, which smoldered several hours.

The house was located in the new plat, where no water was available for the Wright field and Osborn fire trucks which were called to the conflagration. One hundred gallons of chemicals were used by the Wright field firemen to fight the blaze, without success. The Osborn fire truck arrived at the scene too late to save the house. A strong wind was blowing during the fire, and firemen centered their efforts in saving nearby houses and buildings.

HERCULES COMPANY EMPLOYEES BURNED BY POWDER BLAST

Joseph Beers, assistant general manager of the Hercules Powder Company, of Wilmington, Del., and Leonard Hamilton, 17 of Goss Station were burned about the face and hands when some powder they were attempting to ignite, exploded too soon, at the plant being dismantled by the powder company at Goss, Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

Both men were brought to the Esch hospital, this city, after the accident. Hamilton was the more seriously burned and is still confined to the hospital. Beers was able to leave Monday morning for his home in Delaware.

Beers was at Goss Station supervising the work of tearing down and moving the thirty-two buildings of the powder company, which has been moved to Wilmington, Del. He and Hamilton had poured some old powder from the buildings in a pile to burn, and it is thought that a spark from a fire where other powder had been burned, ignited the powder and caused the explosion. Neither was seriously burned, since the clothes of the men were free from powder which prevented the blaze spreading over their bodies.

COURT NEWS

CUPID GETS SETBACK

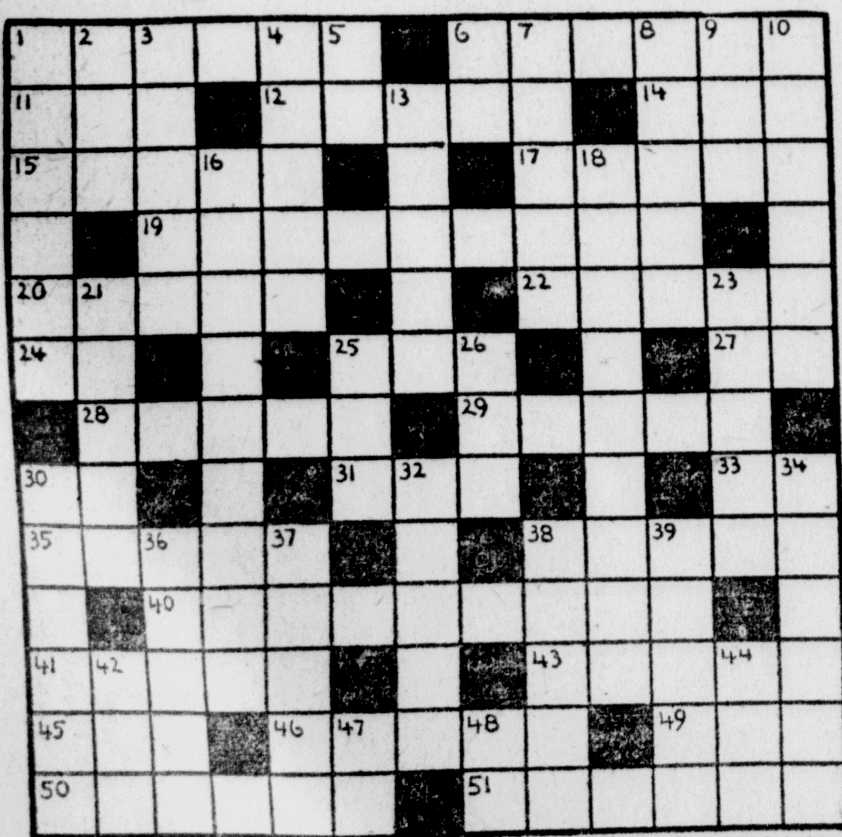

Dan Cupid received his first setback in 1925 when Elizabeth Bottorff was granted a divorce from James A. Bottorff in Common Pleas Court on the grounds of wilful absence from home for more than three years.

One day later Cupid was again handed a severe jolt, when Samuel M. Wolf was given a divorce from Lilian C. Wolf on the same ground. In a unique decision, the court decreed that the custody of the two Wolf children, Martha and Alfred should be given to the parties jointly. One party shall have custody during the school year, and the custody will revert to the other during the summer vacation and during Christmas vacation. Neither may take the children out of the county unless by written agreement of the other party.

Suit for divorce has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Elizabeth Hampton Lane against Frossard T. Lane, charging gross neglect of duty. The couple was married June 20, 1923. The plaintiff asks that the defendant be barred from many dower or rights in certain real estate.

NAVY SCIENTISTS INZ.

Above is shown the giant camera with which U. S. Navy scientists will photograph the total eclipse of the sun on January 24. It was specially constructed for the test, which will be made from the top of the U. S. S. Shenandoah, second largest Zeppelin dirigible in the world, hovering at a high altitude over Lakehurst, N. J., so as to avoid the clouds. In the foreground is Captain E. T. Pollock, Superintendent of the U. S. Naval Observatory, in charge of the tests. At the camera is shown the navy photographer, George H. Peters, who will make the photographs. Others are Professor F. B. Littell and C. B. MOTHER!

Watch Child's Bowels

"California Fig Syrup" is

Children's Harmless

Laxative

There is no ideal or perfect diet for all people at all times. The fundamental laws of nutrition must be adapted to the varying conditions of life.

These normal conditions are: season and climate, growth and age, sex, occupation and activity, stature and weight, the influence of diet on the activity of the bowels, etc. Between some of the above-mentioned conditions there are certain interrelations. Thus the chief distinction between the ideal diet for man and woman is merely one of adapting the quantity to the difference in size and weight of the body. The chief reason for the modification of the diet with advancing age is that of decreasing muscular activity. Obviously, the adaptation of the diet for variations in bodily size should be a quantitative one, while the distinction in the diet required for growth compared with that of adulthood is largely qualitative. The adaptation of the diet to muscular activity, and also to old age, is a matter of the quantitative change in the energy-producing content of the food and also a qualitative change in the diet due to the change in proportions of the energy-yielding food and the other diet essentials.

Many erroneous ideas commonly exist concerning the effect of climate and season upon diet. The heat radiated from the body must be furnished by food, and this would indicate that there should be an increase in the total food intake in cold weather. But in practice, cold weather results in our wearing more clothing, staying indoors, and decreasing our exercise. Hence, we often require practically no more food in winter, and sometimes less, than in summer.

People who eat all they can in winter but worry over their summer diet, have this justification for their point-the summer diet, because of the greater danger of food contamination and decay, results in more frequent cases of ptomaine poisoning, indigestion and bowel troubles, and the death rate of children who are subject to such troubles is greater in summer. The man who lightens his summer diet only is usually over-eating in winter, and the greatest death rate of adults is toward the end of winter season, after people have been sitting indoors and eating "heavy foods" for several months.

Children love the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup" and gladly take it even when bilious, feverish, sick, or constipated. No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels without cramping or overacting. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wetli's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

member, there lived a king, Hrothgar, king of the War-Danes; he was a good king.

A very mighty warrior was Hrothgar and when he was crowned with success and glory in many battles it came into his mind that he would command his men to build a mighty feast-hall wherein his nobles and people might make merry. So he ordered the hall built, promising many gifts to the builders thereof.

And all the people labored: it was thus that the greatest of all halls was built within the space of a single season: a hall, Heorot, by name. Then did King Hrothgar summon his people, when all was finished to come to his mighty feasting place.

(What will happen at the first feast? Tomorrow's story will tell.)

SUES RAILROAD

Bucyrus Jan. 12-Suit for $50,000 alleged damages has been filed in Common Pleas Court here against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company by Peter Debro, father and administrator of the estate of five-year-old Edward Debro, who was killed when hit by a Pennsylvania train two miles east of here September 23 last. The petition charges that the boy's death was due to recklessness and negligence on the part of the engineer. The lad, a mute, going to a field to watch his father work, wandered onto the tracks near the farm.

MODISH MITZI-A New Variety-Fashionable Flowers

By Jay V. Jay

"Gather ye rosebuds while ye may," reads one time honored poem. And Adelaide has. Only she found that nonwiltible rosebuds were best for the trimming of her evening gown and bag. The evening gown is very low waisted and the rosebuds pose on the hip.

"Flowers trim evening gown," is the latest word. Polly, the pretty blonde child, has spent many days shopping for exactly the right shade of chrysanthemum to wear on her tulle shoulder. The skirt tiers and tiers of fluffy tulle.

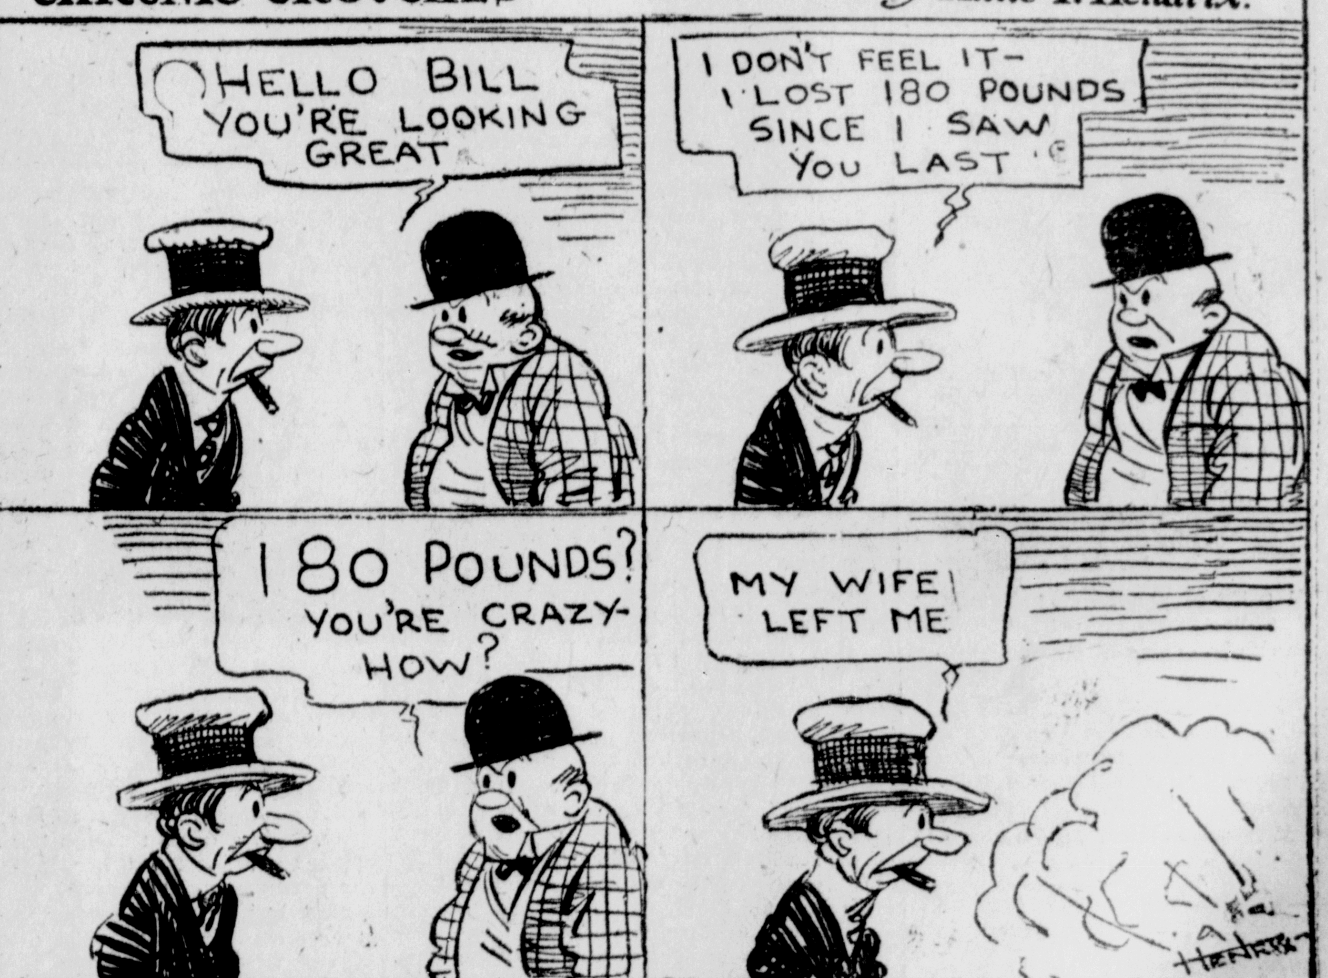

Mitzi wears her flowers on her hip. They are roses and have buds trailing the length of the skirt. She has taken infinite pride and pains in matching the color. It's a glorified flower of purple and lavender velvet and rose silk.

But this fashion of flowers has its difficult side. Just before the occasion a raft of flowers have arrived. Real hothouse flowers. More fragrant and more fragile than those that Mitzi wears. What will the Goofer think if she doesn't wear them? What will she do? Choose between sentiment and fashion? Well, life is not without its problems!

YEGGS TO BE TAKEN TO PEN TO BEGIN TERMS TUESDAY

William Kirk, Steve Cook, and William Kelly, all of Springfield, will be taken to the Ohio Penitentiary at Columbus Tuesday morning by Sheriff Morris Sharp, to serve sentences ranging from one to twenty years for safe blowing.

The trio pleaded guilty to this charge when arraigned before Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy while another indictment charging entering a building with intent to steal was dropped.

Since Cook was apparently the ring leader, he was given the heaviest sentence, from five to twenty years in prison, while his companions received sentences from one to twenty years in prison.

The three men were arrested December 22, when police surprised them in an attempt to blow the safe at the Western Ohio Creamery Company.

QUARTET WILL SING AT BUREAU MEETING

Another interesting feature of the annual meeting of the Greene County Farm Bureau, Thursday, January 15, at the Assembly Room of the Court House, will be the music to be furnished throughout the day by a male quartet.

The quartet will be composed of Fred and Paul Collins, David Bryson and William Anderson. Good voices are possessed by the four men and excellent music is expected to augment the program.

The annual meeting will be addressed by M. D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation who will be the principal speaker of the day and talks by Miss Ella Haas and Miss Adele Koch will be of particular interest to the women who attend the session.

HAS GATEWAY TO YOUTH OPENED?

Are we on the brink of a new and fuller life for young and old? Thanks to a recent investigation among our school children, our eyes have been opened to the truth concerning much of the ill health among adults and youngsters. Fully forty percent of our students were shown to be undernourished—victims of mal-nutrition and vitamin deficiency. Physicians have concluded that what our weak, nervous, rundown and prematurely-old adults need is less medicine and more nourishment that will feed the blood and nerves with strength-building vitamins.

Doctors and other advanced thinkers are turning to cod liver oil to meet and conquer this evil that is starving the race, and are finding success with it in a new form that is not only easy to take, but contains the health-giving vitamins which our food lacks. CocoCod, as the preparation is called, is pure Norwegian cod liver oil with the taste of rich cocoa. It is amazing how children who rebel at plain cod liver oil gladly accept this wonderful new builder. Mothers are learning that it not only makes youngsters sturdy and strong, but that their own cheeks can be made to bloom with the roses of youth through CocoCod. "Has the gateway to youth opened?" they are asking. Are vigorous manhood and womanhood at last to come into their own? Many thoughtful people think so. Local druggists who have arranged to distribute CocoCod, as well as our physicians and teachers, have been fully advised concerning its use. Therefore, be sure you are getting the genuine CocoCod, the new, easy-to-take cod liver oil preparation.—Adv.

BRINGING UP FATHER

The Husband Tamer

by VIOLET DARE
AUTHOR OF "The Half-Time Wife," "The Luxury of Love" etc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

PATRICIA CLEVE protests to her husband.

ANDREW CLEVE, a young lawyer, that he has made her a tamer of other women's husbands, forcing her to do so much entertaining of his clients that he sacrifices her to his business. She goes on a visit to her sister.

CAROL WILLOUGHBY, who, with her husband,

KEITH WILLOUGHBY, lives in a country club colony near Chicago. But Keith, like Andrew, seeks to use Patricia's charm as an asset, trying to persuade her to intercede in his behalf with

GREGORY HEWITT, a famous financier, whom she has met through Andrew. Patricia is disturbed by Keith's attentions to ISOBEL DRAKE, the country club widow. Finding that she can come between them by yielding to Keith's urging that she invite Hewitt to dinner, she does so, reluctantly, as Hewitt has avowed his love for her.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

"I CANNOT stay here! I'll go home at once—tomorrow!" Patricia told herself, as she stood listening while Keith made it meant that I cared for him. Oh, I'll leave tonight!"

The evening seemed a nightmare to her. Dinner was endless, the excellent food tasted like sawdust. But her listlessness passed unnoticed. Keith had the situation in hand, was at his best as a host. Carol had never looked lovelier. Hewitt quite obviously was delighted with her, and insisted on being taken up to the nursery when dinner was over to see the baby.

Later, as they sat on the wide, shadowy porch, finishing the liqueurs of which Keith was justly proud, he brought up the subject of the railroad in which he was interested.

"Pat had me all smoked up the other evening by telling me that you planned to put a branch of the R. and L. through some country that I'm interested in," he remarked, trying hard to make his voice sound casual. "And then, after sending my hopes to the skies, she announced later that she'd been mistaken."

"Oh—yes," drawled Hewitt. "She spoke to me about that. Sorry it didn't happen to be that road I was planning to build."

"You're not half so sorry as I am," retorted Keith, with a laugh whose undertone of shakiness reached only his wife's sensitive ears. In the darkness Carol reached for his hand.

"Well, it may go through in a few years—the one you're talking about I mean," answered Hewitt, scratching a match and lighting a fresh cigarette.

"A few years is just a bit too long for me. I don't mind telling you now that I had an option on the land that road was to run through, and that it expires in three weeks," Keith told him.

Patricia drew her breath sharply. Daring to come out so bluntly with that information. Keith, she realized now, played for high stakes, and played in a manner quite different from Andrew's. Evidently he'd decided to throw his cards on the table.

"Well, that's the luck of the deal,

Isn't it?" commented Hewitt. "Too bad you can't hang on to it a little longer."

The conversation drifted to other subjects then. But a little later, when the two men had gone into the house to look at some fishing rods that had been sent to Keith, Carol hurried across the porch and sat down in a deep chair beside her sister.

"Dear, isn't it just dreadful?" she exclaimed breathlessly. "About that railroad, I mean. Mr. Hewitt could just as well buy that land now, I should think, even though he doesn't intend to build the railroad till later. He has heaps and heaps of money; it wouldn't make any difference to him."

"But it isn't just Gregory who's building the road, it's his partners, too," Patricia reminded her wearily. "Yes, still—Pat, don't you think there's something you could do? Can't you persuade him to change his mind?"

"My heavens, no! There's no earthly reason why he should do anything for me! Surely you understand that I've done all I can, Carol, by urging him to come here this evening?"

"Oh, you've been a dear, of course," acknowledged Carol. "I just thought perhaps—"

Her voice drifted into silence. Patricia rose presently. "I want to wire Andy, Carol," she said. "I'll

"Pat, don't you think there's something you could do? Can't you persuade Mr. Hewitt to change his mind?" Carol asked.

just phone the message from the library, and be back in a moment."

Once in the house, she hurried to the library. Few lights were on, and most of the room was in shadow. She went to the desk and picked up the phone that stood there, asking for Western Union.

"A straight message to Andrew Cleve," she began, and gave his address. "Leaving for home tomorrow; meet me Tuesday Grand Central Twentieth Century," she went on, "and sign it Patricia."

"Now, thank goodness, I can get away from here," she remarked to herself, as she rose. "I've heard nothing but appeals to help Keith ever since I came. Ye gods!"

She sauntered upstairs to her own room, drew a comb through her soft, black hair, powdered her face and put perfume on her hands, lips and behind her ears, then went slowly downstairs again. If only Gregory Hewitt would go! As she reached the lower hall he came into it from Keith's den.

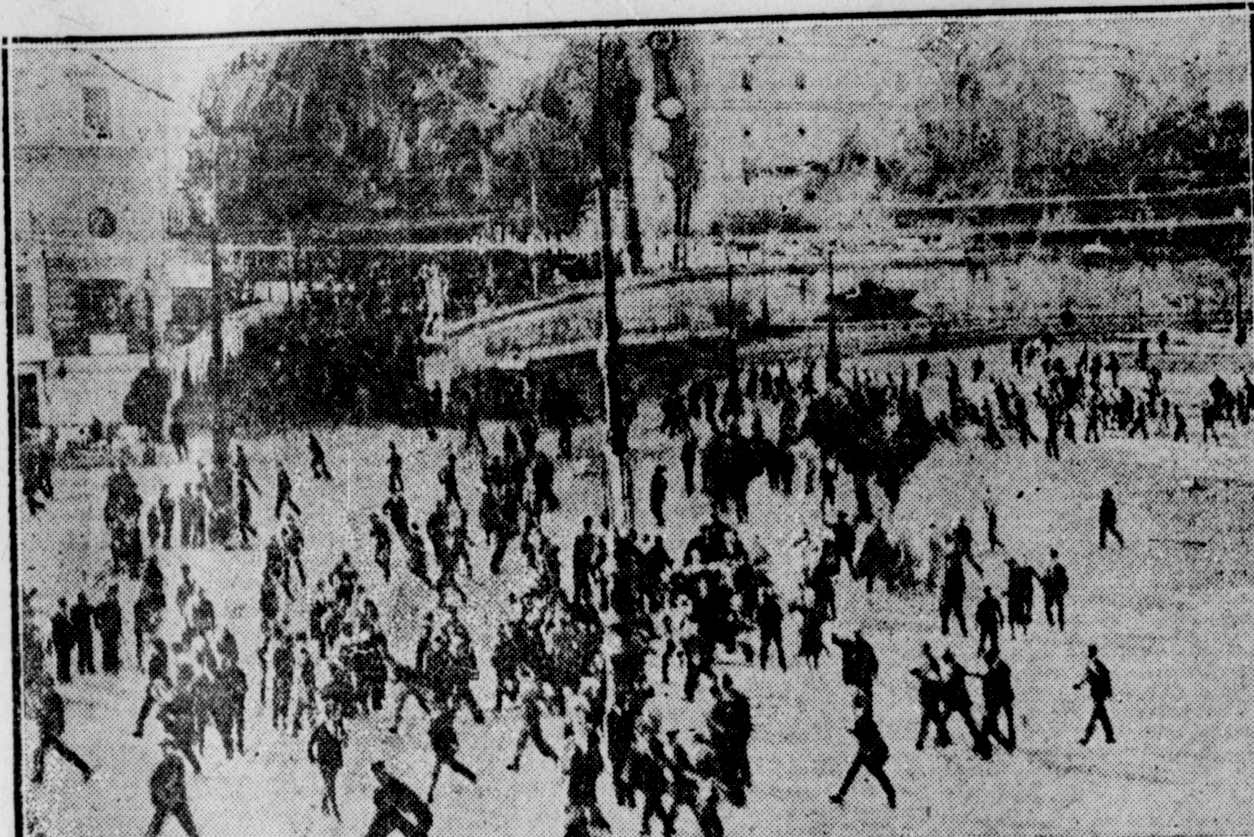

"I've just been calling my secretary, and find that I have to leave at once," he told her, as he waited for her at the foot of the stairs. "Tell me, while we're alone—am I to see you again soon?"

"I don't know just when," she told him, as truthful as she was misreading. "Let me write or phone you, won't you, please?"

"Your word is law to me, always," he answered, and she did not catch the smile that curved his lips as he bent to kiss her hand.

SNOODLES—Boots Brighten Boy's Baths But Bring Bad Bat hing Business

By CY HUNGERFORD

COOLIDGE WILL HAVE AN ALMOST NEW BODY MAR. 4

All But Two of Harding Group Expected To Follow Hughes Lead

Washington, Jan. 12.—President Coolidge will begin his own administration on the fourth of March next with a cabinet that will bear but little resemblance to the one he inherited from the late President Harding a year and a half ago.

Important shifts in the diplomatic corps are also in the making, and will emphasize the "new deal" that Washington expects to see when Mr. Coolidge begins being president "in his own right."

Of the cabinet which Mr. Coolidge took over from the Harding regime, four now have gone or are going and six remain—Mellon, Hoover, Weeks, New and Work. Of these the expectation prevails that all but Secretary Mellon and Secretary Hoover will retire by the fourth of March. There will also be a vacancy in the agricultural department due to Secretary Gore's becoming governor of West Virginia. Recent developments have indicated that Robert D. Carey, ex-governor of Wyoming, now head of the Coolidge agricultural commission, will be appointed to this post.

Secretary of War Weeks has not been in good health recently. He is credited with a desire to retire on this account.

Secretary of Labor Davis has already informed Mr. Coolidge of his wish to retire and the president has indicated he will acquiesce.

In the cases of Postmaster General New and Secretary of the Interior Work, personal considerations are said to be impelling them to private life.

Secretary Mellon is credited with a wish to remain in the treasury at least until he sees the principles of the cherished tax embodied into legislation.

Secretary Hoover recently told him that Mr. Coolidge wanted him to remain and that he had agreed to do so.

There probably will be changes in three of the most important embassies in Europe as a result of the retirement of Secretary Hughes, and the appointment of Frank B. Kellogg, now at London, to succeed him. The London vacancy is assured. For this post there is no dearth of candidates. The belief exists in Washington, however, that Alanson B. Houghton, now ambassador to Germany, will be shifted to London. The president is understood to think highly of Mr. Houghton.

This shift, if made, would leave a vacancy in Berlin. There is also a prospective vacancy in Paris, as Ambassador Myron T. Herrick has informed the president of his desire to retire.

Senator McCallum of Illinois is understood to be the foremost candidate for the Paris post. He speaks French fluently and wants the appointment. He has been a frequent White House visitor lately.

The general belief prevails in Washington that after March 4, President Coolidge will be found assuming a more personal direction of foreign affairs. Both under Harding and under Coolidge, Secretary of State Hughes has had almost a free hand in the direction of American interests abroad and in some of his policies—notably those affecting Russia and the world court—he has been constantly at loggerheads with the senate. One of his most persistent critics is Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, now chairman of the powerful foreign relations committee of the senate, and the outstanding champion of Russian recognition. There exists between Borah and Mr. Coolidge a closer personal relationship than is generally realized. The Idaho senator is a frequent visitor and advisor to the White House. Consequently the capital expects to see a softening of the Russian policy after March fourth.

Secretary Hughes has been a staunch and sometimes bitter opponent of any dealings whatever with the soviet government. It is due to his stern and unyielding opposition that the United States today is the only major power in the world that does not have relations of one kind or another with Moscow. Senator Borah has argued consistently against this rigid policy, and there have been indications recently that his missionary work has not been entirely in vain, where Mr. Coolidge is concerned.

Ambassador Kellogg's policies are not expected to "bristle" so much as those of Hughes. Kellogg has been in the senate, and was a member of the foreign relations committee of the "mild" reservationists in the League of Nations fight. This attitude of his was described by his friends as "judicial" and by his opponents as "timid." Irrespective of this, the expectation prevails generally that Mr. Coolidge plans to take a greater personal part in the direction of foreign affairs under Kellogg than he has under Secretary Hughes.

With Senator Borah's voice no inconsiderable factor in future policies.

ARREST OF YOUTHS POLICE THINK WILL CLEAR UP ROBBERIES

Police believe they have cleared up the mystery surrounding two burglaries at the Dunkle Grocery, Cincinnati Avenue, Friday and Thursday nights, with the arrest Saturday afternoon of six Xenia boys.

Durando Lemons, James Burton, Ralph Coates, Earl, Robert and Ralph Terrill, were arrested by Patrolmen Fred Jones and Peter Shagin, but with the exception of Burton and Earl Terrill, all denied they were implicated in the robberies.

Earl Terrill, 19, arraigned in Police Court Monday morning on a charge of petit larceny, pleaded guilty, and was given a fine of $200 and costs and a sentence of thirty days in the Greene County Jail by Judge E. D. Smith. Terrill and Burton admitted entering the grocery last Friday night and taking a quantity of tobacco.

The other five boys, all minors, will be arraigned in Juvenile Court Thursday afternoon on delinquency charges. All were released from custody.

Burton also admitted that he had entered the grocery Thursday night together with Lemons and escaped with seventy-five pennies from the open cash drawer. Entrance was gained through the cellar window.

DRIVE AGAINST NANKING PLAN; MARINES LAND

Looting Continues In Shanghai—Rail Services Are Cut

Shanghai, Jan. 12.—Flushed with their easy victory here, Sun Shuan Fang and Chih Hsieh Yuan plan an immediate joint drive against Soo Chow and Nanking, it was announced today.

Despite announcement of Chi that he is doing his utmost to clear up the situation in Shanghai, thousands of armed stragglers are still roaming the streets in the vicinity of the foreign settlements.

Widespread looting is proceeding in the native city. So far there have been no disturbances in the French concession or international settlement although stray bullets are still falling near their borders. All rail services out of Shanghai have been cut.

Shanghai, Jan. 12.—Marines from the naval units stationed here have landed and today were assisting the regular defense troops in patrolling the foreign settlement which was within range and sight of the fighting incident to the coup of Chi Hsieh Yuan and Sun Chuan Fang.

Chi, formerly tuchon of Nanking and Sun, tuchon of Chekiang, today were in possession of the Kiangwan arsenal and the Lungwa quarter, virtually controlling the Shanghai district in defiance of the provisional government at Peking.

Foreign concessions border on the district through which the fighting was carried on for several hours and several shots struck the Catholic cathedral.

Chang Yuan Ming, Peking defense commissioner, was in flight today, leaving eight thousand of his men, who fled to the French concession.

CRIME WAVE SWEEPS LONDON WHEN HEAVY FOG COVERS CITY

One Killed and Economic Loss of $5,000,000 Estimated

London, Jan. 12.—The city life of London was almost wholly disorganized today as the result of a thirty six hour fog. Economic losses are estimated to have reached $5,000,000. One person is dead, scores were injured and criminal activity has greatly increased.

During the night, bus and street car service was withdrawn. Many busses and private automobiles were left beside the curbs because they could not reach their garages. The police force was depleted because some officers could not reach their stations.

Others could not locate their beats. As a result, criminals worked unmolested in numerous districts.

Street collisions between motors and horse drawn vehicles were frequent, one person being killed and dozens hurt. Train service was badly disarranged.

The Paris aeroplane arrived in the midst of the fog and was forced to circle for a long time trying to locate the landing place. Rockets were sent up by the aerodrome. The pilot took a chance and came down through the fog, making a perfect landing.

London was dark as night today, although the fog had lifted slightly. Several sections of the city reported it had lifted 100 feet, making street traffic easier near the river.

Scientists estimated there were tons of soot suspended over the city.

BUILDING AND LOAN SECRETARY TO TALK BEFORE CIVIC CLUBS

Plans are practically complete for the local observance of National Thrift Week, beginning on Benjamin Franklin's birthday, January 17, and continuing through January 23, in building and loan institutions.

James A. Devine, Columbus, secretary of the Ohio Building and Loan Association will deliver a speech to a joint meeting of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs, local civic organizations, the date to be announced later, according to H. L. LeSourd, of the Home Building and Savings Company, who is in charge of the local observance.

No particular days during the course of the week will be observed especially, in relation to thrift week it was announced.

Past accomplishments of the building and loan associations have brought to the immediate notice of the public the far-reaching effects of this worthy service, of which thrift week is no exception.

SUGGEST HOUGHTON
London, Jan. 12.—Diplomatic circles here believe that Alanson B. Houghton, ambassador to Germany, will be appointed to succeed Frank B. Kellogg at the court of St. James, it was learned today. While it was thought that the British government would accept this appointment, it is understood that some of the "die hard" Tories fear that Houghton is over sympathetic toward Germany.

COMMISSION HOLDS ASSIGNING OF CARS BY ROADS IS UNJUST

Railways Must Change Practice in Regard to Private Cars

Washington, Jan. 12.—The interstate commerce commission today reaffirmed its previous decision holding that the practice of the railroads in assigning private cars and foreign line cars for railway fuel to bituminous coal mines in excess of the table share contemporaneously distributed to bituminous coal mines upon their lines, which do not receive assigned cars, was unjust and unreasonable.

The railroads were ordered to change their practice with regard to privately owned coal cars by March 1, 1925.

The commission was divided on the question, Commissioners Hall, Potter and Cox dissenting from the majority report.

Commissioner Cox said no question which has come before the commission in recent years is more closely related to the industrial life of the nation than this case which deals with the distribution of coal cars.

"Public utilities, transportation agencies and other industries which are not only intimately associated with the distribution of heat, light and power but with practically all the necessities of life, as well as dependent upon a regular and dependable fuel supply," Cox said.

"The present efficiency in transportation is largely dependent upon an unfailing supply of coal. If this supply is reduced or even restricted, the industrial life of the country is at once affected and the public welfare suffers accordingly. President Coolidge has emphasized the need for elimination of waste and there is splendid opportunity for co-operation along these lines in the production and distribution of coal. It is my thought that the use of the assigned and distributed private cars, is along the line of efficiency and economy of operation. They both occupy an important place in the field of efficient transportation and their use should be encouraged rather than condemned."

"The private car owners are grouped generally into three classes, according to the commission's report: "1—Those that owned the plants, mines and cars, the latter being used to transport coal from the owned mines to the plants of the owning company. In this class are included the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiaries, the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, Wisconsin Steel and International Harvester Companies, Ford Motor Company and the Steel Company of Canada.

"2—Those that own cars and plants, but not the mines. Included in this class are the by-product coke ovens, not connected with the steel and other plants, enumerated in class one and the public service electric company.

"3—Those that own cars and mines, but which are dependent upon outside contracts for the disposition of the coal, the Berwind White Coal Company and the West Moreland Coal Company being included in this class.

"It is absolutely necessary for the steel and by-product coke corporations to secure a regular and adequate supply of suitable coal which the past has demonstrated cannot be secured alone in system cars during periods of car shortages," Commissioner Potter said in dissenting from the majority report.

Prosecuting Attorney J. Carl Marshall is marking time before formal charges of murder are filed against Forest Kennedy, Cedarville, who shot and killed his wife and then attempted suicide.

Kennedy was in a serious condition from his bullet wound but is growing steadily better and it is believed he may survive to face the murder charge.

After his attempt to end his life, he acquired a case of pneumonia, which is abating due to the man's remarkable vitality.

Since the improvement in his condition, two officers have been set to guard against his escape or another suicide attempt and will continue to perform guard duty, day and night, until he is able to be removed.

No charges will be filed until it is certain that Kennedy will live, according to Prosecutor Marshall.

FORMAL CHARGE OF MURDER TO AWAIT RECOVERY OF MAN

New Rochelle, N. Y., Jan. 12.—One hundred persons were homeless today and police were seeking a pyromaniac, following a series of fires which destroyed three dwellings within a few blocks of each other.

Hundreds were driven to the wind swept streets in night attire. Police ascertained the fires were of suspicious origin. They said that so far as they knew, no one had been injured.

Detective Michael Lynch climbed a telephone pole to the third floor of one of the tenements and shouted to a woman standing at a window there to throw to him the baby she had in her arms. Lynch caught the infant with one hand as he clung to the pole with the other and made his way safely to the ground. Again he ascended the pole, and this time called to the woman to wait until firemen who were unhooking a long ladder reached her. Firemen carried her down to safety a few seconds before flames shattered the window at which she had stood.

Fireman Tinkham ran through dense clouds of smoke on upper floors and saved several children.

Firemen making their way through the building came upon an old man seated near a window on the second floor, partially overcome by smoke, and carried him to safety.

Executive Tells Legislators He is Opposed To State Constabulary—Wants New Utilities Commission Regulation.

Columbus, O., Jan. 12.—Economy in state governmental expenditures and enactment of legislation designed to more effectively safeguard the interests of the general public were recommended by Governor Donahey today in his message to the state legislature.

Advising that the state live within its income, the governor estimated state funds available for appropriations during the next two years will approximate $77,000,000.

On the subject of taxation, Governor Donahey voiced his opposition to any new direct state tax levies; reiterated his recommendation, made in his message two years ago, that the people of each full control over future increases in tax levies, debts and sources of revenue, and urged legislators to advise with the attorney general for the purpose of enacting additional franchise tax legislation.

A number of changes in the law affecting public utilities were urged by the governor. He recommended that the legislature appropriate $100,000 a year, to be spent, or such of it as is necessary under the direction of the governor in employing trained men to secure information for presentation to the state utilities commission, "thereby securing just settlements."

Changes in the Freeman Collier act, providing for regulation of motor bus transportation, were recommended by the governor, providing for home rule in municipalities for hire wholly within municipalities, and authorizing the public utilities commission to delegate the hearing of motor transportation cases to representatives of the committee with a right of appeal under proper restrictions.

Eulogizing the Ohio Workmen's Compensation act, as "the model compensation system of the world," Governor Donahey recommended that the occupational disease provisions of the act be broadened so as to embrace the occupational diseases not now included in the law. He recommended also legislation permitting the state industrial commission to carry out the provision of the state constitution authorizing the commission to set aside as a separate fund, such proportion of the contributions paid by employers into the state insurance fund as in its judgment may be necessary to be spent in investigating and preventing industrial accidents and diseases.

Charging that the election system "is too expensive, and also, it is too susceptible to political manipulation and fraud," Governor Donahey asserted that quadrennial registration is frequent enough for the cities now having it annually. Annual registration is unnecessary. It only serves to give a four day job to a horde of election officials," the governor said.

"Provision should be made to enable bona fide groups of voters, other than the two political parties participating in primary elections, to have watchers at the polls and at the counting of the ballots," continued the governor.

"Also I desire to urge, as I did two years ago, the broadening of our primary election system so as to permit independent voters, those having no party affiliations, or those unwilling to state publicly their affiliations, to participate in the nomination of candidates."

Touching upon law enforcement, the governor recommended exempting chiefs of police from civil service so that mayors may appoint chiefs of their own choosing, in sympathy with their policies. He also, asked that provision be made for the payment of witness fees in connection with hearings conducted by the governor.

More economical construction of school buildings, reducing waste space and eliminating super-ornamentation, was urged by Donahey, who advocated, also, legislation providing for greater co-ordination and co-operation of the work of the state universities, colleges and normal schools, and for creation of a single board, or body to control these educational institutions.

Referring to state welfare, the governor reiterated his plea for restoration of a bi-partisan, or non-partisan board of administration as the supervising and managing agency for the state's 23 penal, correctional and charitable institutions. He favored a $500,000 appropriation for additional buildings at the London prison farm, larger appropriation for compensating prisoners at work, purchase by the state of Longview Hospital for the insane, from Hamilton county commissioners for $1,500,000; enlargement of buildings for the care of the feeble minded, and special provision for feeble minded children.

Other recommendations made by the governor were: Instead of creating more common pleas judgeships, let the chief justice of the state supreme court assign to the more populous counties judges from other districts to help clear congested dockets.

Provide for enlarging the work of eradicating bovine tuberculosis and combating the European corn borer. Grant increased salaries to attendants and other employees in state penal, reformatory and benevolent institutions.

Amend the law which limits the gravel type of road constructions to main market roads so as to permit extension of intercounty roads.

"The best way we can serve the farmers of Ohio at this time, it seems to me, is to administer the government economically and to guard against creating needless tax burdens, because every time you increase taxes, the brunt of the burden falls on the land and home owner, who has his possessions intangible, physical property which cannot be hidden and cannot escape being taxed," said Governor Donahey.

The governor advised spending about $124,000 for enlargement of state fair facilities by purchasing so of the cheaper land north of the fair grounds before prices become exorbitant by reason of erection of residences.

He heartily endorsed "helpful legislation" designed to curtail the number of grade crossing and other highway accidents, but voiced opposition to a state police or constabulary, and advised that local communities employ all the police and deputy sheriffs needed.

Legislation seeking elimination of stream pollution and conservation and protection of forests, as well as water, were urged by the governor. He advised partial or entire tax exemption for forest tracts approved by state forestry department. Wooster and recommended that legislators take steps looking toward a conference of representatives of all states bordering on Lake Erie with a view to enactment of uniform laws providing for the conservation and development of the Lake Erie fishing industry.

Probably no changes will be made in the official personnel of Xenia banking institutions at the annual elections Tuesday, January 13.

Xenia's three banks, the Citizens National Bank, Commercial and Savings Bank and the Xenia National Bank will hold directors' meetings Tuesday for election purposes.

R. S. Kingsbury, president of the Citizens' Bank, H. H. Conklin, president of the Commercial and Savings Bank and George Little, president of the Xenia National Bank are all expected to succeed themselves.

(not to exceed one per cent. annually) of the contributions paid by employers into the state insurance fund as in its judgment may be necessary to be spent in investigating and preventing industrial accidents and diseases.

Charging that the election system "is too expensive, and also, it is too susceptible to political manipulation and fraud," Governor Donahey asserted that quadrennial registration is frequent enough for the cities now having it annually. Annual registration is unnecessary. It only serves to give a four day job to a horde of election officials," the governor said.

"Provision should be made to enable bona fide groups of voters, other than the two political parties participating in primary elections, to have watchers at the polls and at the counting of the ballots," continued the governor.

"Also I desire to urge, as I did two years ago, the broadening of our primary election system so as to permit independent voters, those having no party affiliations, or those unwilling to state publicly their affiliations, to participate in the nomination of candidates."

Touching upon law enforcement, the governor recommended exempting chiefs of police from civil service so that mayors may appoint chiefs of their own choosing, in sympathy with their policies. He also, asked that provision be made for the payment of witness fees in connection with hearings conducted by the governor.

HOOVER LEADING NATIONAL DRIVE UPON ACCIDENTS

Washington, Jan. 10—The support of the Governor of every State in the United States has been solicited by Secretary of Commerce Hoover in the campaign to reduce the heavy annual loss of life in traffic accidents.

Machinery has been set in motion looking to general application of recommendations adopted at the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, aimed at putting traffic on a sane basis. Backed by the endorsement of President Coolidge, the conference arranged to make available to every State and community information and suggestions for cutting down traffic accidents.

Secretary Hoover has addressed to all Governors letters transmitting a copy of the final report of the conference and suggesting that it be called to the attention of State Legislatures in the event that new motor-vehicle and highway legislation is contemplated.

The Department of Commerce said that already "the letters pouring into the offices of the Safety Conference indicate that hundreds of delegates have started, with the assistance of newspapers of the country, to wage a more intensive drive for safety education and safety practice."

"It is also indicated," officials declared, "that railways officials, motor clubs, Chambers of Commerce, safety councils and other bodies are being brought into closer contact with the work undertaken by other groups. The support of all these groups will be given wholeheartedly to programs which may be undertaken by officials in the various States."

Recommendations adopted by the conference will be made available for official and non-official organizations throughout the country. It was announced that pledges of co-operation have been received from the American Legion, with 17,000 posts and auxiliaries, and, also, from the National Association of Commissioners for uniform laws.

"The former will mean," the Department said, "that several million members of the Legion will through their local branches lend their highway safety programs."

"The latter will add a considerable force in the attempt to bring about legislation which will reduce the existing confusion of traffic laws between neighboring States."

B. AND O. SAVING

Ottawa, Jan. 12—An order providing that only four days' work per week shall be performed until spring by the section workmen on the Columbus Grove section has been received. It is believed the order will be extended to include every department of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. The object of the order, it is understood, is retrenchment and reduction of a large deficit occasioned by depression in business last summer and fall.

THE FACE IN THE COURT HOUSE TOWER

"Dirty Hands, Dirty Face," an erstwhile popular song, might be appropriately dedicated to the clock in the Court House tower. The county's "Big Ben," striving to give correct time to the public, is handicapped at night by a decidedly unkempt appearance.

For several weeks now, it has been next to impossible to read the time on the dial, because of either dirt on the face of the clock or lack of proper lighting behind it. Some of the beauty of Greene County's noble Court House is stolen by the appearance of the time-piece at night as well as the practical value, that is lost.

Therefore, it is respectfully suggested to the proper authorities, that the face in the Court House tower be brought back to its pristine brightness.

THRIFT.

It is fitting to note at the beginning of National Thrift Week that thrift is being taught children in the schools.

Under a program inaugurated this year, school children are piling up savings in a local institution. At the O. S. and S. O. Home, wards of the state operate a "bank" in which they deposit their savings.

They are taught not only "thrift" but banking operations, and the rudiments of business. The introduction of manual training and domestic science in the schools, brought the first hint of practicality into an educational curriculum that before that time had heeded only theory.

Now then it is well also to teach thrift in the schools, because lessons learned in childhood are rarely forgotten. The principles of saving are the principles of success and have furnished the foundation for many a colossal business of the present.

Thrift, so taught, is so important a part of the school work that a system of credits for it, would be fitting.

THE ELWELLS AGAIN

The marital trouble of the Elwells lack appeal and novelty. So many married folk have them. But we can easily understand the fact that Mr. Elwell had only $850 left when the reconciliation was effected. Or, if we do not understand it, we can accept the alleged fact of his financial condition without cavil. It seems that last July shortly after Mr. Elwell won a $20,000 prize in a magazine-naming contest, he quit his job, bought a sedan and started out on a three months' motor trip. The marital troubles of the Elwells may have had their origin in fifty different sources, but as one who has taken motor trips, we can readily understand where the money went.

The only thing that puzzles us is that they had $850 left. They must have carried a tent and done their own cooking.

Both husband and wife say they wish they'd never seen the money. There is a thought there for all uplifters and public wealers. By making it a statutory offense to win prizes or accept gifts of any kind the human race might be saved untold anguish and suffering. And, being one of those who never win prizes and seldom receive gifts of great intrinsic value, we offer the suggestion that such a law be passed.—Jay House in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

THE OLD BLUFFER

I'm just an easy sort o' fool
That shames around and says what's what.

Lays down the law an' makes the rule,
An' gives it to 'em good and hot;
I tell 'em what they'll have to do,
An' what'll happen if they don't,
I'll show 'em all before I'm through
But still they seem to know I won't

There's mother. Thirty years an' more She's seen me stompin' round the place

And heard me bang the kitchen door,
An' laughed at me right to my face;
For spite of everything I've said,
Or threatened when I've had my say
Of what I'd do, she's gone ahead
And generally has had her way.

So with the youngsters, I could shout
Until my voice would shake the wall
And dance the chandeliers about
And never frighten 'em at all;
They knew that all they had to do
Was rub my cheek or stroke my chin.

An' wait until my rage was through An' to their pleading I'd give in.

What good's it done to storm and shout

If all my rage was just a sham?
I didn't want 'em flinching out
The soft and easy fool I am;
After all I said an' done
I know I had a chance to win.
I've said my say an' had my fun
An' ended up by givin' in.

WHAT

GUARANTY BANK ORDINARY BANK

SPECIAL DEPOSITS CAPITAL STOCK

What is a guaranty savings bank?

This is a specialized form of savings bank and is found only in New Hampshire in the United States. These banks do not transact a commercial business, but they have "special deposits" which are, to all intents and purposes, capital stock.

This type of bank pays a certain stipulated rate of interest to general depositors and any surplus of earnings above this is available for dividends on the special deposits.
These special deposits are, in reality,
a guaranty fund for the general depositors and such special deposits must usually total 10 per cent. of the total deposits (charter provision).
Such institutions are savings banks in every sense, but they are not strictly "mutual" concerns, as there is a preference of some depositors over others. These special depositors assume the risk of loss or depreciation, and, in the case of stock concerns, they would be the first to suffer in case of insolvency.

Baked Lamb Chops with Dressing

Buy six lamb chops from the loin.

Bone and roll them. Pan-broil them till tender and brown. Season with salt and pepper as they cook. Then place the cooked chops on a baking pan, and heap this dressing on top of them: Put into a bowl two cups of soft bread crumbs; add one-fourth cup of grated or finely chopped mild

American cheese, a pinch of celery

salt or one teaspoon of finely chopped uncooked celery, one-half teaspoon of finely minced raw onion, and enough

sweet milk to form a soft paste of the mixture (not too soggy). Bake

the chops in a moderately hot oven till this dressing is brown—about ten minutes and serve at once.

Canned Corn en Casserole: Mix one pint of sweet cold milk with one can of corn, then scald the mixture. Season

it with one teaspoon of salt, a pinch of pepper, and add two teaspoons of butter. Now turn this mixture onto two slightly beaten eggs and stir well. Pour all into buttered baking dish or casserole, and slip it into a low oven, standing this dish in a shallow pan filled with hot water (as you would a baked custard). Let bake at low temperature till the center of the dish is firm. Serve hot.

Orange Puffs: Mix together one and one-fourth cups of pastry flour, two tablespoons of baking powder, a pinch of salt and one-half cup of sugar; sift this, then stir into it one-half cup of sweet milk which has been previously mixed with two egg-yolks, one tablespoon of melted butter and one-half spoon of grated orange rind. Beat all for two minutes and then turn it into six greased "twells" in a pop-over pan. Bake for about 25 minutes in a low oven. Serve with the following:

A LITTLE JOURNEY

I took a trip the other day—on a trip. I travelled with Nina Kennard over the paths once trod by that strange and illuminating genius Lafca-dio Hearn.

We watched him as a little boy, buffeted about, so void of parental warmth, until they put him "a handful of dust in a little earthen pot" tucked away in a Buddhist grave in Japan, hidden from the millions who would now bow in honor and love to pay him homage.

As our thoughts walked in silent mien over the years that had so chil-ed and scorned this wayward figure in its brave and never despairing fight, I thought of this uncaring and fickle world that shoves its great aside until their stilled spirits leap from the very grave to shame the pharisaical multitude that passed along "on the other side."

We followed this shy and lonely
welcome hands for love and care. We "visited school" and heard him recite. We followed him from England to New York, to Cincinnati, to New Orleans, to the West Indies—to Japan where for fourteen long and lonely years he poured out his soul distilling its essence into the finest of the fine until he walked from his dinner to the place where he wrote and wrought, felt tired and then laid himself down to sleep—untroubled
by the dreams that so devastated that frail body in life.

"Just at the eleventh hour," says Nina Kennard, "when he had become a name, he died!"

And yet it has now taken fully twenty years for the world to realize that for half a century it held in its lap one of the strangest geniuses of all history and a sensitive soul as rare as God's choicest star.

For many years I have loved the beautiful spirit and lovely writings of Lafcadio Hearn, but not until I had read the story of his life by Nina Kennard—a book which I had picked up in a Dallas, Texas, book store—have I so understood him. And this book was written over a dozen years ago and they had to ferret it out for me, coming to me all covered with dust and discoloration and sold for half its publication price.

You can't appreciate a great man until you know his background. Then you love him.

When You Catch Cold
Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints,
sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children.
Ask for Children's Musterole.

EVERYTHING SET FOR WRESTLING SHOW AT EAGLES MONDAY NIGHT-PALMER TO REFEREE

All is in readiness for the wrestling match which is to be staged Monday night at Eagles Hall the first match starting at 8:15 o'clock.

Three matches have been arranged by Promoter Carlin. The main go will bring together Jack Armstrong of Newark, and Carly Wines of Cleveland. They will grapple to a finish in the best two out of three falls. The men are welters and some fast work is expected when these two 145 pounders clash.

The semi-windup will find Bull Gossard, London middleweight and Young

Frank Gotch, Kansas City, champion of the Middle West. Gotch is better known as Billy Carlin, who is putting on the show. When he arrived in this city he asked that his identity not be disclosed until the night of the match.

Gotch, who tips the beam at 168 pounds, will give Gossard all the rough and tumble milling he is looking for. Gossard has shown here before and in his matches he illustrated that he likes to grapple the rugged way. Gossard will no doubt have his hands full when he attempts this kind of stuff with Gotch. They will grapple one fall or a time limit of ninety minutes.

ED FOGWELL MAKING MONEY WITH RACING STABLE IN FLORIDA

Jack Reid Springfield scribe, writes that Ed Fogwell, the Osborn horseman is still gathering in the coin. The trainers, who are wintering their horses at Orlando, Fla., and Fogwell is one of them, staged a matinee on Christmas Day. The Osborn horseman pulled down the long end of the purse in two of the three events on the card, according to Reid, winning the Class A pace with Al Bingen and the Class A trot with The Specimen.

Fogwell has announced that he will ship his stable to Deland, Fla., about January 20, for the county fair to be held there and that he will return to Orlando for the big county fair to be held in that city in March. From Orlando he plans to ship to Memphis, Tenn., where he will remain until the 1925 racing season in Ohio opens. Fogwell and his son, "Dutch", besides looking after their horses, are finding time to enjoy the fishing around Orlando, says Reid, and have filed claim for the medal for making the largest catch of the winter season, "Dutch" hooked forty-three bass, weighing about two pounds each and a perch in one day, while Ed landed twenty-two bass of about the same weight.

Back about 1870, James N. Wellman developed a secret tobacco process which won instant and widespread favor. FAMILY DRIVEN FROM HOME BY FIRE WHICH DESTROYS FAIRFIELD RESIDENCE SUNDAY

The ten-room home of Fay Warren, employee of Wilbur Wright Field, Fairfield located in the new addition of Fairfield known as Fairview, was completely destroyed by fire early Sunday morning. The blaze is thought to have originated in a defective flue and smoldered for several hours.

The fire was discovered by the Warren family about 1:30 o'clock, and efforts were made to stop the fire between the walls. It was thought after a time that the fire had been conquered and the family returned to bed.

The blaze broke out later and Mr. and Mrs. Warren and their several children escaped from their burning home. All the furniture in the house was saved, but the home, valued at $4,500, was completely destroyed. The loss was partially covered by $3,500 insurance Mr. Warren said.

The Warren home, a two-story structure, was moved from Old Osborn to the new site when the village was moved, and it is thought probably that the flue was damaged in the moving process. The house was heated by coal stoves and sparks were caught in the flue, which smoldered several hours.

The house was located in the new plat, where no water was available for the Wright field and Osborn fire trucks which were called to the conflagration. One hundred gallons of chemicals were used by the Wright field firemen to fight the blaze, without success. The Osborn fire truck arrived at the scene too late to save the house. A strong wind was blowing during the fire, and firemen centered their efforts in saving nearby houses and buildings.

HERCULES COMPANY EMPLOYEES BURNED BY POWDER BLAST

Joseph Beers, assistant general manager of the Hercules Powder Company, of Wilmington, Del., and Leonard Hamilton, 17 of Goss Station were burned about the face and hands when some powder, exploded too soon, at a plant being dismantled by the powder company at Goss, Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

Beers and Hamilton were brought to the Esplanade hospital, this city, after the accident. Hamilton was the more seriously burned and is still confined to the hospital. Beers was able to leave Monday morning for his home in Delaware.

Beers was at Goss Station supervising the work of tearing down and burning the thirty-two buildings of the powder company, which has been moved to Wilmington, Del. He and Hamilton had poured some old powder from the buildings in a pile to burn, and as they thought that a spark from a fire where other powder had been burned, ignited the powder and caused the explosion either was seriously burned, since the clothes of the men were free from powder which prevented the blaze spreading over their bodies.

CUPID GETS SETBACK

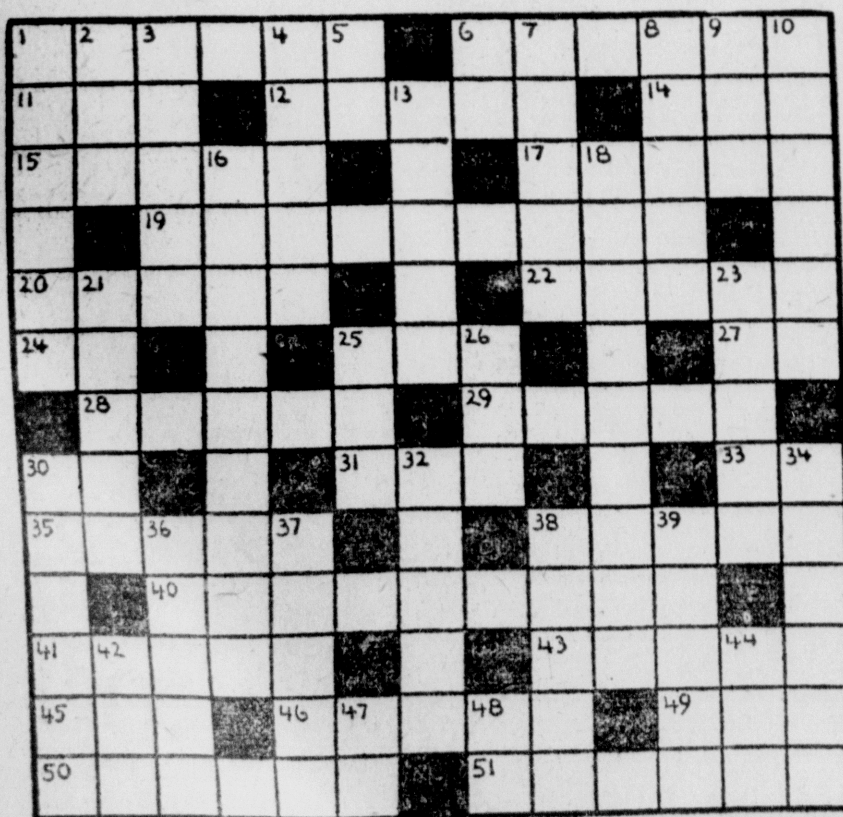

Dan Cupid received his first setback in 1925 when Elizabeth Bottorff was granted a divorce from James A. Bottorff in Common Pleas Court on the grounds of wilful absence from home for more than three years.

One day later Cupid was again handed a severe jolt, when Samuel M. Wolf was given a divorce from Lilian C. Wolf on the same ground. In a unique decision, the court decreed that the custody of the two Wolf children, Martha and Alfred should be given to the parties jointly. One party shall have custody during the school year, and the custody will revert to the other during the summer vacation and during Christmas vacation. Neither may take the children out of the county unless by written agreement of the other party.

Suit for divorce has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Elizabeth Hampton Lane against Frederick T. Lane, charging gross neglect of duty. The couple was married June 20, 1923. The plaintiff asks that the defendant be barred from any power or rights in certain real estate.

OBSERVE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY HERE

Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Proudfit celebrated their seventh wedding anniversary, Sunday and in honor of the occasion, Dr. Proudfit preached a fitting sermon to his congregation of the Second U. P. Church Sunday morning.

Two interesting facts brought out by Dr. Proudfit in his sermon were that during the seven years the congregation had raised church funds amounting to $100,972 and that the membership had increased from 350 to 400 despite the removal of the Xenia Seminary during the period.

A large basket of American Beauty roses was placed on the altar by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, as a gift to the pastor and Mrs. Proudfit.

Six colored men, all of Xenia, were arrested Monday morning by United States Marshal Carson Pratt, Dayton, and his deputy, J. H. Wagner, assisted by the local sheriff's office and were taken before the United States Commissioner in Dayton late Monday afternoon.

Those arrested are William Anderson, Charles and Paul Rountree, H. C. Scott, Clarence Sullinger and E. L. Carlmen. Anderson is alleged to have stolen seven government rifles from Wilberforce University several weeks ago, and the other five men are said to have bought them. They were to be arraigned on a federal charge.

THE AD CATALOG

Everybody has a weakness for some sort of a catalog-at some time or other.

In the Spring there's a great rush for seed, poultry and those catalogs that feature solitaire diamond rings. Other people have other fancies-and automobile, clothing, paint and sporting goods catalogs claim their followers all the time.

But the best catalog of all is the A-B-C classified page-it's built on an all-year, all-comers basis that satisfies everybody.

It covers the wants and needs of the whole family-from dad's touring car to Tommy's new pup!

Read this changing catalog every day-and when you want to use an ad in it, call and ask for an ad-taker!

BEOWULF
Adapted for boys and girls from the great English epic. Adaptation by Taves Maxwell (A Viking Tale)

1. King Hrothgar's Hall
(It was the custom, in the old stories like this one, not to bring in the hero until after the story had gone along for a while. It is for this reason that BEOWULF himself does not appear until the fifth day.)

MOTHER!

Watch Child's Bowels
"California Fig Syrup" is Children's Harmless Laxative

Children love the pleasant taste of "California Fig Syrup" and gladly take it even when bilious, feverish, sick, or constipated. No other laxative regulates the tender little bowels so nicely. It sweetens the stomach and starts the liver and bowels without cramping or overacting. Contains no narcotics or soothing drugs.
Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.
Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

member, there lived a king, Hrothgar, king of the War-Danes; he was a good king.

A very mighty warrior was Hrothgar and when he was crowned with success and glory in many battles it came into his mind that he would command his men to build a mighty feast-hall wherein his nobles and people might make merry. So he ordered the hall built, promising many gifts to the builders thereof.

And all the people labored; it was thus that the greatest of all halls was built within the space of a single season: a hall, Heorot, by name. Then did King Hrothgar summon his people, when all was finished to come to his mighty feasting place.

(What will happen at the first feast? Tomorrow's story will tell.)

SUES RAILROAD

Bucyrus Jan. 12-Suit for $50,000 alleged damages has been filed in Common Pleas Court here against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company by Peter Debro, father and administrator of the estate of five-year-old Edward Debro, who was killed when hit by a Pennsylvania train two miles east of here September 23 last. The petition charges that the boy's death was due to recklessness and negligence on the part of the engineer. The lad, a mute, going to a field to watch his father work, wandered onto the tracks near the farm.

MODISH MITZI-A New Variety-Fashionable Flowers

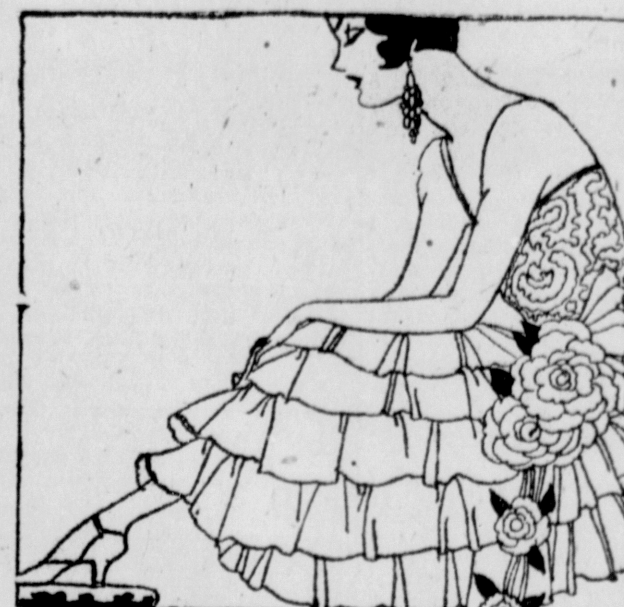

By Jay V. Jay

"Gather ye rosebuds while ye may," reads one time honored poem. And Adelaide has. Only she found that nonwilted rosebuds were best for the trimming of her evening gown and bag. The evening gown is very low waisted and the rosebuds pose on the hip.

"Flowers trim evening gown," is the latest word. Polly, the pretty blonde child, has spent many days shopping for exactly the right shade of chrysanthemum to wear on her tulle shoulder. The skirt tiers and tiers of fluffy tulle.

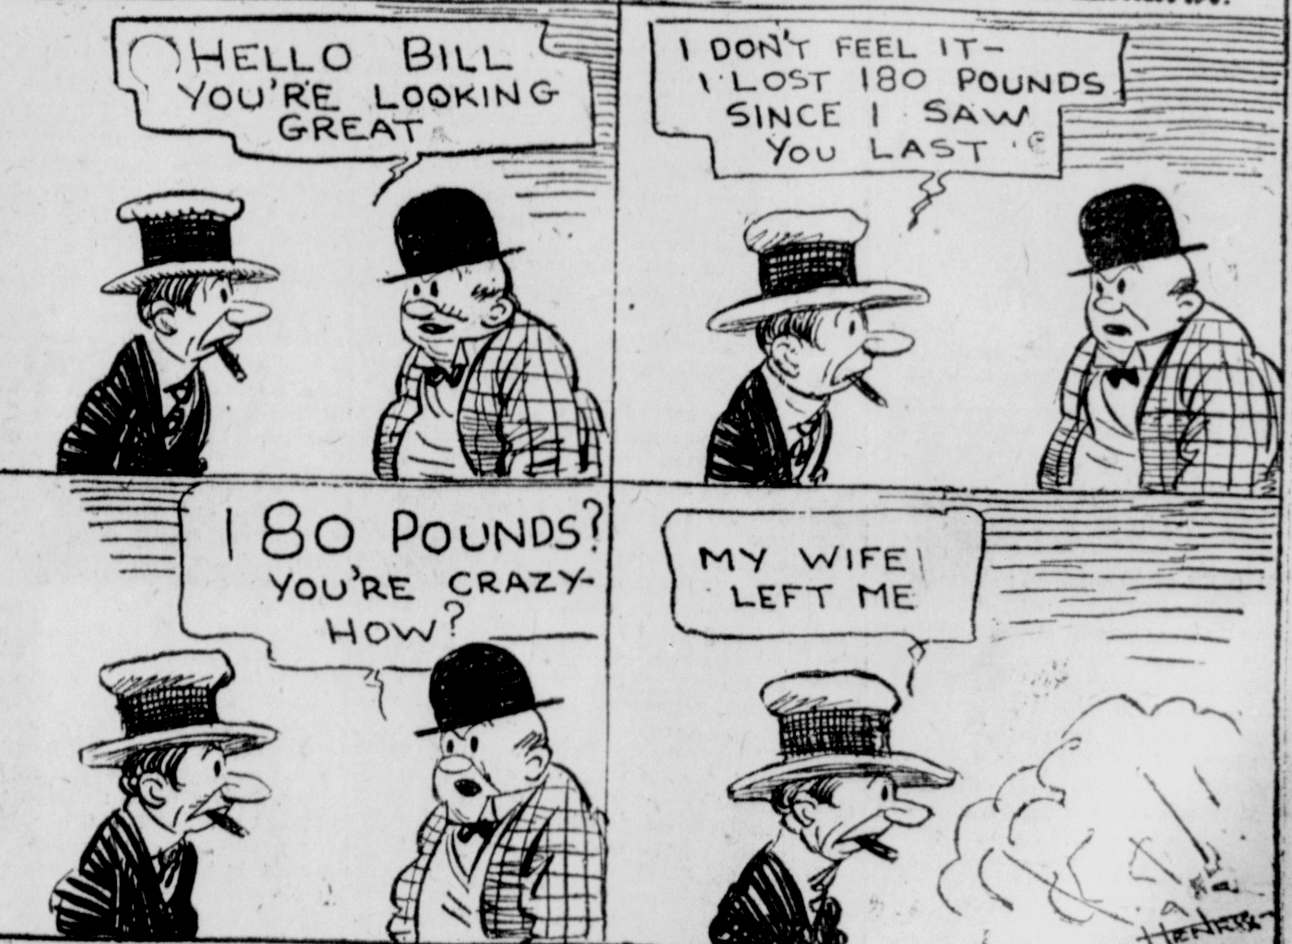

Mitzi wears her flowers on her hip. They are roses and have buds that lengthen the skirt. She has taken infinite pride and pains in matching the color. It's a glorified flower of purple and lavender velvet and rose silk.

But this fashion of flowers has its difficult side. Just before the occasion a raft of flowers have arrived. Real hot-house flowers, those that Mitzi wears. What will the Gaffer think if she doesn't wear them? What will she do? Choose between sentiment and fashion? Well, life is not without its problems!
